

Creative Arts Internship Learning Outcomes

Responsible for enhancing everything that happens in or around Foothills Church by creating engaging experiences from web and social media, events and Sunday morning worship.

If an intern has a specific emphasis in an area under Creative Arts the internship can focus in that interest area.

Prerequisite: Read Creative Potential by Luke McElroy - Recognize that Creative Arts is a viable option for a call to a vocational ministry area.

The intern will be able to:

Team Development

Demonstrate how to recruit ministry leaders and team members utilizing a “for them” not “from them” philosophy. Utilize key questions to find the best fit ministry for a person interested in serving.

Demonstrate how to develop and train new and existing team members.

Demonstrate on-time and unrelenting care to all team members through personal care and leading care efforts through others.

Prepare and execute volunteer schedules for a complex Sunday morning experience involving multiple teams.

Project management

Collaborate in creative team meetings required to coordinate events and projects.

Organize large scale time-sensitive projects that involve multiple staff, vendors and volunteers.

Demonstrate a process of evaluating the Creative effectiveness of a worship service and projects. Participate in actual evaluations.

Sunday Morning Production

Includes Sound, Light, Monitors, Video Cameras, DSLR Cameras and Directing

Identify basic functions of each operating system.

Manipulate each operating system.

Demonstrate ability to operate each system in a practice and live worship setting.

Creative Design

Includes Video and Photo Editing, Animation, and Web and Graphic design

Develop an understanding of each software system’s capability.

Produce a sample product from each software system.

Create an entire service or series package.